

The Taming of the Shrew

Hotly debated for its jaw-dropping representations of sex, gender and power, William Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" has been inspiring controversy for centuries. This production asks: Who's in control? Is anyone being tamed at all? North Central College's rendition is directed by Carin Silkaitis.

The Theatre at Meiley-Swallow
31 S. Ellsworth St.
Naperville Illinois

$10, $8

Thursday-Saturday, April 25-27, 2013 - 7:30pm to 10:00pm